Made by riders for riders

Winners are produced at home. Success depends on equine management, health and regeneration. All products manufactured by Activo-Med have become extremely useful in equestrian sports, breeding and leisure over the past decades and play an integral part in horse care in many yards today.

Activo-Med supports equine performance, regeneration and rehabilitation with a number of products. Our systems have been in use around the world for two decades and are a permanent fixture in horse care, not only for sports horses but in any area owners, riders and breeders are looking to provide optimum support.

Since my two big boys are competing at the highest level in three-day-eventing we use the Activo-Med pulsed magnetic blanket and PectoPad daily.

With the easy to use control box with all its programs and sequences, we always have the right treatment for each horse.

Even Vicco Pop who is notoriously difficult, can finally relax. Generally, I use the blanket before riding, as my horses start training much more loose and relaxed.

Pulsed Magnetic System

In the past few years, veterinarians have gained new knowledge in the use of pulsed magnetic therapy based on electromagnetic fields, which can influence the organisms of biological systems.

The cell is the beginning of life. It is the root and elementary foundation for any living organism. Inside the cell, growth and other functions are controlled by electromagnetic oscillations. Are these malfunctioning, ill health may be the consequence, often caused by low magnetic energy. The inductive impact of electromagnetic stimulation has the ability to re-polarise the oscillation thereby normalising cell activity.

I have been using the Activo-Med blanket with my horses for two years now, and to say that I am pleased with the result is to say nothing, I am just happy with this product.

My horses now after using Activo-Med blanket are in great shape, the need for the veterinary care and physiotherapy has decreased a lot.

I am using the blanket as by the instructions from the S1 program before work to S2 after work, the horses became much more relaxed and feel very comfortable, I can see that their muscle tone after the use is great.

Sometimes I use the blanket after competitions then I use S3 program for a strong and fast recovery of my partners, if you want your horse to be always in good shape then get this wonderful product.

Complex Technology for Your Horse, Easy and User-Friendly Application

With the purchase of an ImpulseLine product featuring pulsed magnetic therapy, holding a modern, highly efficient and user-friendly system is guaranteed. Our products represent the latest technology especially in terms of micro-processor controlled features. The systems are developed from solid and extensive clinical and empirical experiences of veterinarian and medical experts.

Our multifunctional control box generates a low frequency pulsed magnetic field, which can be combined with a variable degree of vibration massage simultaneously, offering a unique and effective treatment solution which is highly adaptable to suit individual's needs.

Cardio-Vascular-Compliant

The unique activation sends wave-like signals to the heart. This is termed cardio-vascular-compliant. The high performance applicator has been set out in five segments, which can be controlled separately or in combination through our multifunctional control box. This applies to both functions – pulsed magnetic field and vibro-massage.

Problem Area Neck

In order to ensure even the most sensitive parts of the horse's body are covered, we shall not disregard the highly delicate muscles in the neck. These, as well as the shoulder, elbow, back and knee area are all covered with our professional blanket, providing an all-encompassing treatment for your horse.

- ★ Magnetic Field/Massage
- ★ Field intensity 7.800 Microtesla (78 Gaus)

Robust materials with netting

The netting along the spine allows for better air circulation

User-friendly multifunctional control box with soft-touch display

For years I have been using the Activo-Med ImpulseLine products in my practice as a vet and for my own sports horses.

The pulsed magnetic blanket has been especially useful in treating problems such as kissing spines and other painful conditions concerning the back area.

For conditions like tying up, the recovery period is vastly reduced as the muscle enzymes return to normal levels so much quicker.

But also for very nervous and tense horses we can observe much more suppleness and calmness when using the blanket before riding.

FEI vet and successful Three-day-Eventer in

Pulsed Magnetic and Massage Blanket Professional

The combi professional blanket comes with a high performance applicator fitted with pulsed magnetic and optional massage modules. These are set along the spine on either side starting from the neck down to the tail. Covered with additional units are the shoulder and knee area. A gentle massage may improve circulation, loosen tense muscles and positively stimulate the central nervous system, which is what we all want for our horses! The easy to use control box is extremely user-friendly with its 18 programs and 8 sequences, which are all fully adjustable in every setting. This way each session can be entirely personalised to suit each horse's needs, as time, intensity and level of frequency can make all the difference to your sports partner.

- ★ 18 preprogrammed adaptable settings
- ★ 8 preprogrammed adaptable sequences

Pulsed Magnetic and Massage Relax and Relax Plus System

The Relax blanket features a light-weight pulsed magnetic therapy applicator which can be fitted with additional massage modules. This blanket is available with or without hood. The easy to use COMPACT control box has 18 different programs and 8 sequences, which are all fully adjustable in their settings.

- ★ 18 preprogrammed adaptable settings
- ★ 8 preprogrammed adaptable sequences
- ★ Also available with hood

Knowing I have my Activo-Med blanket with me at shows, gives me the certainty of my horses' well being.

Hoofboots

The Hoofboot by Activo-Med offers a unique treatment solution through the combination of pulsed magnetic therapy and massage.

It covers the hoof, starting from the shackles and the hoof crown down to the sole of the hoof. The fastening straps ensure safe usage at all times.

Leg Wraps

The prof. pulsed magnetic boots or leg wraps have four magnetic coils, which are operated from the top down on the outside of the leg, then back up on the inside of the leg. The easy application makes for effortless treatment of the horse's legs.

The wraps are available as complete set with the blanket, as separate set with a control box or as an additional component on their own. On special request, we supply the wraps with additional massage modules.

Magnetic Field Treatment for Canines

For your other four legged friends we developed the special canine mat. This is available in 60 x 60 cm conveniently fitting the majority of dog beds.

Coolboots Standard & Coolboots XL

Cooling the horse's legs after a workout has been done for years. But water is not always at hand, especially at shows coming by a hose pipe is not always possible. This is why we developed our cooling boots with removable cooling pads, which are easily cooled in the freezer. They are easily exchangeable and can be reused over and over again. Our XL boots are longer, covering the carpal joint down to the fetlock and are fitted with additional vibrating massage units.

Pecdominal Pad

This special addition to the blanket supports the muscles on chest and belly. These muscle groups are often dismissed as being responsible for tension, asymmetry and imbalance in the horse, but should be regarded as an important part of the horse's physique. The applicator is positioned in the girth and chest area, with extra modules in the saddle area if used on its own.

When my arab had to have colic surgery and he had an allergic reaction to the stitches, it became a race against the clock, which we thankfully won once using the pulsed magnetic blanket and WLP shower. The scepticism of my vet was soon turned into excitement when they realised the results we were getting from the treatment. Cornelia Koller, Endurance Rider

After a bad injury on my horse's hind leg, the vet seemed to be round our yard permanently. Twice the leg swelled so badly, I thought it would explode - the infection was so bad. Proud flesh and an ongoing infection hindered the healing process. Only when I used the WLP light shower with vibration, the swelling went down and the infection reduced. Quickly the leg regained its normal size and the wound began to close. I can only strongly recommend the treatment. Customer

Wave-Light-Pulse

The WLP system combines the pulsed magnetic field with our unique Wave-Light-Pulse technology and is available as a light shower, pointer and power pad. Intensity and frequency can be set simultaneously to the WLP signal strength.

The Wave-Light-Pulse system is a device for intensive, more bundled treatment of certain areas. The WLP shower and pointer can be used with both the PROFESSIONAL and the COMPACT multifunctional control box.

- ★ Electromagnetic coil in addition to 24 infrared and 24 red diodes
- ★ Flexible application
- ★ Easy to use
- ★ Intensive treatment of specific areas

Power Pad

The unique combination of pulsed magnetic therapy, massage and light provides an infinite number of treatment options.

Fitted with flexible surcingles, the pad can be applied safely almost anywhere on the horses body.
